

THE DAILY DEMOCRAT

THURSDAY, - - - JUNE 12, 1956

[From the Washington Union]

The National Capital Responds to the Nobly, patriotically, and enthusiastically the national capital responded to the nomination of the Democratic National Convention. Without any preparation, and with scarcely any previous notice, the Democratic citizens of Washington assembled in mass meeting at half-past seven o'clock this evening to ratify the nomination made at Cincinnati. In consequence of the unfavorable state of the weather, the meeting was held in Copp's Saloon. The saloon, which is the largest in the city, was filled to overflowing. Hundreds were unable to gain admittance, as the enthusiasm of insiders and outsiders never exceeded at any previous popular demonstration in the city of Washington. Several of the distinguished standard-bearers of the Democratic party, as they took their seats upon the stage, were vociferously cheered. The appearance of Judge Douglas was hailed with deafening shouts of applause. The veteran statesman a patriot, General Cass, was received with tremendous cheering—the Marine Band, which was in attendance, appropriately playing "Auld

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Ratcliff of this city, who moved that Wm. Samuel Smith, of Tennessee, be appointed chairman. The motion was unanimously adopted.

Upon taking the chair, Mr. Smith spoke as follows:

Fellow citizens of the District of Columbia—Should feel it an honor at any time to preside over so large a meeting as is here assembled to ratify the nominations made at any National Convention, and more particularly so do I now feel, that you have assembled together in such large numbers.

and up in such short notice, to ratify the nomination recently made at the city of Cincinnati, and which, according to the enthusiasm which is manifested here and elsewhere over this country, must and will be successful on the first Tuesday in November next. [Cheering.] I also feel highly honored in being called to preside over this meeting because it is to be addressed by those whose love and devotion to their country, the constitution, and the Union, has embriomed themselves in the Acarte of their country men, under whose lead we have fought in times gone by, and under whose lead we expect to fight here, to come. [Audience.] I feel my purpose, it is not my place, to speak to you any further in reference to the candidates who have been nominated in Cincinnati. I can only rejoice with you, in common, that the nomination was made with such unanimity and such harmony as always characterize the great Democratic party when assembled together, with the not less purpose that it did a few days ago, to preserve the Union. [Great applause.] There may be no more from the State, which I have the honor to represent, and I will travel out of the usual course, merely to say, coming as I do, from the State of Ohio, that I am, as ever, your obedient servant.

The following Vice Presidents were then a

GEN. CASS'S SPEECH.

General Cass, on being introduced, was received with enthusiastic cheers. He said:

I do not come here to make you a formal address. I came to unite with you in your congratulations upon the termination, the fortunate termination, of the mission of the representative body of the Democratic party at Cincinnati. Today, because I came from the West, born in the injurious agent which acts both time and space, announcing that the convention has named to discharge the duty of Chief Magistracy of the Union, and for our standard-bearer, during the coming contest, who will unite the hearts and hopes and exertions of the whole Democracy of the country. And that man is James Buchanan. He is respected by the American people for his services and experience, for his unequalled integrity and unquestioned talent, for his intimate acquaintance with public affairs, and for his patriotism and his devotion to the country.

anywhere situation he has been placed, at some place abroad. He has filled with honor and distinction various high stations, and left them all at my disposal. I have a measure of public confidence that will enable me to enter them—a rare circumstance in the life of a public man in our country. And he is especially respected by our own party for his attachment to its cause and principles, his fidelity in its long career, and his rejection of mere local considerations, always regarding with attitude the interests and claims of every section of the country. The labors of the convention are closed, and well come to us now ours—that is, yours and mine, those lead, of the whole party—begin. Let us determine to elect our nominees. We can do it, and shall do it. Let every true Democrat buckle on his armor—not the armor of Sharpe's rifles, which are supplied by some of the churches of the country instead of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, but the armor of truth, of reason, and of persuasion, and forth to the combat, and he is sure to go forth victorious.

And never was there a time which more demanded the patriotism and devotion of every honest-hearted American than does the present. Evil days are upon us, and in the very way ness of blessings and prosperity unknown of old, where in ancient or in modern times, we are engaged in an angry and fearful sectional contest, where, whose consequences no man should contemplate without the most gloomy apprehension. The portion of our country, not satisfied with enjoying the rights of self-government, seem to desire to govern the other. The day of trial has come, and the destiny of the Union, under the God of our fathers and our own God, who led us across the waters and the desert to this beautiful land, is not of promise, but of performance—and in this overruling Providence the destiny of this Union in the hearts and hands of the Democrats. Our party. Our old and honorable opponents, the Whigs—the Whigs of the days of the lamented Mr. Clay and Webster—who long carried on a close contest with our party upon great constitutional questions, and in a spirit of liberal patriotism, disbands. Its leaders are dead or discouraged. Its standard is in the dust, and its time-honored distinctive principles are among the things that have been, and many out of the ruins have arisen sectional parties, some of them with avowed signs, fatal to our national existence, and all of them without any other connecting bond than position to the Democratic party. Let us understate the strength of that opposition; but we prepare for it, and we can overcome it in combat, and save the Union. And here, tonight, at this Democratic meeting of approval and ratification, in the political capital of the republic let us pledge ourselves to each other and to the party to do our duty, and our whole duty; if this example is everywhere followed, as it will be, the battle will be half won by the determination to win it. Let every Democrat sacrifice personal prejudices and predilections, if he believes that it will be injurious upon the altar of party. And it I have one single friend in the numerous assemblage who, for the sake of "Aung Mye," has any regard to my wishes or opinion, I ask him to do all I shall do—support unanimously, heartily, earnestly, the election of Jada U Nu. He will find his reward in the good of his country and in the stability of her institutions.

As to the candidate for the Vice President, the selection is honorable to the convention to the party. Those who know Mr. Breckinridge best, best know his true Democracy, his high honorable character, his eminent talents, and claims upon the public confidence. He will be faithful co-laborer with James Buchanan in cause of the country. Success to them both! Above all, success to this glorious Union, who has given us a greater measure of prosperity freedom than ever before fell to the lot of any time! Withered be the hand that is stretched to touch the Ark of the Constitution!

During the delivery of General Cass's speech was repeatedly interrupted with loud and enthusiastic cheers. At its conclusion, when it went up for Judge Douglas, The Chairman stood forward and said that it was stepped forward and said that it was almost time for him to introduce to the meeting an universally known as the "Young Giant of West." As soon as the wild applause which followed this announcement had in a measure subsided, Judge Douglas appeared, and spoke substantially as follows:

JUDGE DOUGLAS'S SPEECH.

Hon. Stephen A. Douglas said he came before the meeting with a hearty good will to localize and ratify the action of the National Convention at Cincinnati. [Applause.] He came not to discuss the matter of form, not in compliance with a cus-

Was it there that, under the advice of the g filled with Sharpe's rifle, law was to bascu constitutional obligations to be defied, and mob to take possession of the power of the go ment? He repelled the charge. He had England that the law was to be defied, and that the people of New Hampshire did not feel that violence over the constitution, the law, the judiciary of the country, and everything so connected with it.

New Hampshire, too, would come in with glorious victory—New Hampshire, the birthplace of Franklin Pierce, the star in the East to the West, the star in the North to the South, the star in this mob-law party? Never, as long as we revere the faithful administration of Franklin Pierce, the country of New Hampshire should be written, in the memory of man, never had been a Chief Magistrate who had with more religious fidelity to the constitutional principles of the country than Franklin Pierce (Great applause). The greatest honor which successor could desire to have paid to him was that he should have been as faithful to the constitution and the United States as Franklin Pierce. (Renewed cheering. Mr. D. said he felt it a duty and a privilege to have their countryman so highly honored, and that there was no danger of misapprehension, every Democrat had in his heart to say, the country owed an immense, nodding obligation to Franklin Pierce, and that his administration had been upheld and grand.)

Following the example of my illustrious friend, Mr. D., I will say, with my heart, I hope to have the power of saying to you, in other places between this time and the first of November, that if I have a friend in the United States, it is Franklin Pierce, and I have respect for my memory, let him put his hand to the wheel, and do everything in his power to keep the country in the path of duty.

Mr. D. took his bow and then, after a cheering and a band played "The Star-Spangled Banner," he bowed and retired.

We think Adams Express for papers for all sections of the country in advance of the mail.

We are requested by Messrs. L. P. Hunt & Co. to state that the drawings in the gift certificate of May 29 are now on hand, and will be distributed as rapidly as possible. They are compiled to have the drawings printed in Cincinnati.

We are requested to notify all persons having horses to sell at auction at the Fair Grounds on Friday, that they must have them entered on the Secretary's books; the fee is invariably to be paid at the time of entrance. Mr. C. C. Spencer, the marshal and auctioneer, has made ample provision for the auctioneering of all the stock which may be offered.

Mr. Charles H. Hunt. It will be seen by the advertisement in another column, that the new and very fine hotel in Portland is open under the management of Messrs. W. W. Owen and Jas. W. Redding. Mr. Owen is young, energetic and enterprising, affable and courteous, and will do all that man can do to make his guests comfortable, while Mr. Redding will make it his special duty, for which he is well qualified, to enter for the traveling public in all they can expect of an accommodating host. We cordially commend these gentlemen and their enterprise to the people.

Valuable Steamboats at Public Sale. Mr. James W. Wales will sell at auction, this morning at 11 o'clock, at the Portland wharf, two superior steamboats, the "Thor" and "Hawthorne." These boats are so well known to river men and travelers generally, that any reference to their speed and capacity would be quite superfluous. For terms of sale see advertisement in another column.

The Fifth and Sixth Ward Public Schools. We had the pleasure of witnessing some of the exercises in the Fifth Ward school yesterday, and were highly gratified by the appearance of the pupils and their proficiency in the different branches pursued. The primary department, under the charge of Misses Sonville and Mahini, was highly interesting, and the advancement of the pupils did infinite credit to the patience and perseverance of the teachers. At the close of the exercises, the Superintendent announced that the highest class would be transferred to the second department. The female primary school, under the charge of Miss L. M. Knight, was equally pleasing, and closed with a similar announcement.

The male grammar school, under the charge of Mr. W. A. Martin, was next exercised, and we were pleased to see the school still retained its position, notwithstanding the heavy transfer made from it to the High School.

The Races on Tuesday. We furnish the result of the races on Tuesday. The attendance was large and the meeting a good one.

Mile heats—Three heat in five. One hundred and fifty yards. In the first heat, the "Hawthorne" won by a large margin. In the second heat, the "Thor" won. In the third heat, the "Hawthorne" won.

The second race for the proprietor's purse—mile heats—brought two contestants to the field—Hawthorne and Thor. The Hawthorne won by a large margin.

The races on Wednesday. The races on Wednesday were also well attended. The Hawthorne won the first heat, and the Thor won the second heat.

The races on Thursday. The races on Thursday were also well attended. The Hawthorne won the first heat, and the Thor won the second heat.

The races on Friday. The races on Friday were also well attended. The Hawthorne won the first heat, and the Thor won the second heat.

The races on Saturday. The races on Saturday were also well attended. The Hawthorne won the first heat, and the Thor won the second heat.

The races on Sunday. The races on Sunday were also well attended. The Hawthorne won the first heat, and the Thor won the second heat.

The races on Monday. The races on Monday were also well attended. The Hawthorne won the first heat, and the Thor won the second heat.
